STRENGTHENED BY THE BREAD OF LIFE

Today we resume the “Bread of Life” discourse from John’s Gospel that began two weeks ago. He makes reference to the Jews’ ancestors who ate manna in the desert. These days we would think primarily of Israel wandering in the desert, but faithful Jews would also have known the story of Elijah that we hear today. Strengthened by food and drink in the desert, the angel of the Lord sends him on his forty-day and forty-night journey (the biblical number for a preparation time). Like the food given to Elijah in the desert, Jesus tells his listeners that he is bread for the life of the world. It is very important that we not stop listening to Jesus after his promise of eternal life—a marvelous promise, but this “reward” is not the only reason we feast on the Bread of Life. We also come to the table to be made strong for the journey of mission, that the whole world might have life in the fullness of Christ. We are compelled, if we have eaten of the bread of life, to go forth in service to all.

As we continue in our celebration of the Year of the Priest.....
One Definition of a Priest

When one hears the word "priest", the image entering the mind is that of a parish priest. All priests by the grace of their ordination are able to make Jesus truly present in the Eucharist at Mass, give absolution for sins, baptize, and join a man and a woman in the sacrament of Marriage. But not all priests do the same type of work, but their mission or purpose is one: to bring the faithful through their everyday lives, closer to Christ. These are priests (along with deacons and bishops) who join a diocese or archdiocese.

They have a lifelong commitment to celibacy and obedience to their (Arch) bishop. The primary ministry of a Diocesan (from the Greek word "to keep house") Priest is one of being available and involved in the day-to-day lives of people, thus helping the local bishop to "keep house" in the family of God who struggle to live out the Paschal Mystery (the suffering, death and resurrection of Christ).

Generally they minister within the geographic confines of their (arch) diocese. They have the primary responsibility of meeting the spiritual needs of the Catholics in their diocese. Generally, but not always, this means parish ministry. A parish (from the Greek "a dwelling beside or near") Priest lives near the people he is involved with.

The diocesan priest may operate in the parish as a Pastor, or as Associate Pastor, spending a considerable amount of time in parish administration, social work, and administering the sacraments. He may also be asked to undertake other ministries such as teaching, or serving as campus minister, or chaplain at a hospital, military base or prison. Others may work in different offices of the Archdiocese such as Vocations Office, Marriage Tribunal, Office of Communications, Youth Ministry, etc. A diocesan priest ordinarily serves within the diocese for which he is ordained. He makes a commitment to his arch (bishop).

The presence of a diocesan priest represents the presence of the Church, the Church that is ever beside its member through the successes and failures, joys and sorrows of life. A central responsibility of a diocesan priest is prayer. As a pastor, a diocesan priest is the shepherd of his parish community, thus responsible for the spiritual growth and welfare of the community in his care. It is then of most importance that he takes time to pray for his flock, and to pray that he is leading and guiding them along the right path to Christ.

A diocesan priest may live with one or two other priests in a rectory, but many times he lives alone. Diocesan priests do not make vows like that of religious priests, sisters and brothers. Upon ordination, the priest promises obedience to their bishop, and to live a life of celibacy for the sake of the kingdom of God. In short, the Diocesan Priest is a mixture of collaborative leadership, making the richness of Scripture and Tradition available through preaching and teaching, and compassionate pastoral care. In all these tasks, he is someone who bears the imprint of the Gospel in prayer and action in a world of very secular values.

PASTORAL CARE NEWS

"This is enough, O Lord! Take my life, for I am no better than my fathers."

Elijah's words in Kings are filled with self pity and profound discouragement, and echo the struggle of obedience to God's plan for the tired prophet. The Lord cared for Elijah even during this time, strengthening him with food and drink, and preparing him for the long journey to fulfill his mission. When you struggle and are fed up with life, how do you endure the feelings of failure and hopelessness? Do you talk to the Lord about it?

In Ephesians, St. Paul urges the community to look to God when malice wants its way. He offers hope by exhorting his friends to seek kindness, compassion, and forgiveness as a way of life. Are you tempted to bitterness, anger, and revenge? How do you cope?

In John's gospel Jesus gives us the way out and the way forward. He is the living bread to prepare and strengthen us for our journey so that we will fulfill our mission as children of God.

Draw near to the Lord In Eucharist and Walk His Way of Love!

Good News: Thank you to the parishioners who donated greeting cards to the Pastoral Care Office. We use them to correspond with those recently hospitalized, the homebound, and the Bereaved. Your kindness is extended to many. Thank you!!!!
